All three volunteered their services after a call was sent out by the local draft board.

This section of country was visited by a heavy frost last Saturday night, which killed a great deal of corn in the low lands and injured many tobacco fields. Some of the corn may be only stunted, but much was frozen to the roots. That on high ground does not seem to be affected. The government thermometer registered 43 degrees Sunday morning, while others in the country districts registered as low as 39 degrees. The frost seemed general in most parts of Ohio and a portion of Indiana, and is something unusual for June.

Lawrence Meeker, 24 years old, who had been ailing for a year or so with tuberculosis, died rather suddenly about 11:30 Sunday night in his mother's home on Central avenue. He had been uptown Sunday afternoon, but took with a sinking spell that evening. He was the youngest son of the late Wm. Meeker and is survived by his mother, two sisters—Mrs. Frank Hildebrand of this city and Mrs. Homer Bickel of Union City, Ind., and a brother—John Meeker, now with the American Expeditionary Forces in France. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the residence and burial made in the Abbottsville cemetery.

A company of soldiers, part of the regiment that passed through this city last week, stopped here a short while Wednesday evening to stretch themselves after their long ride from Camp Pike, Arkansas, and with the regiment band, marched up town and treated our people to a most excellent band concert. They were members of a Field Artillery, bound for somewhere in the East and came unheralded. They were not long, however, in gathering a large audience, Broadway and Washington avenue being thronged with people in a very short while. During their short stay in the city they were showered with gifts, in the way of tobacco, cigars, candy, cigarettes and bananas, nothing being too good for them. Their splendid drilling was also watched with great interest, the band music being some of the best ever heard here. A Brigadier General accompanied them. After about an hour's stay in the city, they proceeded on their journey amid the cheers of the large crowd that had congregated at the Panhandle depot to see them depart.

Careless Use of Poison Causes Live Stock Loss.

Frequent reports of farm animals dying suddenly from no other apparent cause than poisoning have led officials at the Ohio Experiment Station to send out a warning against the careless use of poison material when spraying or baiting for insect pests.

Poison containers, such as Paris green boxes and white lead or arsenate of lead cans, thrown into trash piles and dumps usually hold enough of the material to make fatal doses when eaten by farm animals. Paint buckets even though thinly coated are licked by cattle because of the sweetish taste of the lead compounds; these are poisonous and even one bucket licked by five cattle has been known to cause fatal results.

PLEASE SETTLE YOUR ACCOUNTS WITH THE JOURNAL DO IT NOW!

When such buckets are wanted for farm use they can be easily cleaned by gasoline, but uncleaned buckets or kegs kept for nail or water receptacles or thrown into trash piles are dangerous.

Materials most dangerous to live stock are: Paris green, London purple, arsenate of lead, calcium arsenate and any compound of arsenic, nicotine and zinc compounds.

The old stubs of cabbage plants should never be left standing in the field. They should be pulled up at harvest time and all that show swellings on their roots should be carefully burned. This precaution will lessen the disease in badly infected fields and will hold it in check in fields where it appears only in spots.
